CASCINELLI PRESENTS “IN MOTION”
A DIALOGUE BETWEEN TECHNIQUE, BODY AND MOVEMENT, IN COLLABORATION WITH GIUSEPPE GIOFRE’

PRESS RELEASE

Milan, January 12, 2026

On the occasion of Milan Men’s Fashion Week January 2026, CASCINELLI presents “In Motion”, a capsule collection born from the collaboration between Filippo Cascinelli and Giuseppe Giofrè, unveiled alongside the brand’s new collection “One Year On”, celebrating the first anniversary of CASCINELLI.

“In Motion” stems from the encounter between the designer and the dancer, united by a shared desire to create something new through the dialogue between technique, body and movement. Giuseppe Giofrè is an internationally renowned Italian dancer and choreographer, known for his work with global stars such as Jennifer Lopez, Taylor Swift, Britney Spears and many others, across world tours, stages and major productions. The capsule merges CASCINELLI’s design DNA with Giofrè’s sense of movement and fluidity, translating gesture into form. The collection features sculpted nylon jackets with rounded sleeves and boxy silhouettes, trousers with undulating ribbing, long oversized belts, nylon boxers, and a bicolour one-piece suit with flowing piping, all conceived to follow and enhance the movement of the body.

Alongside the capsule, CASCINELLI presents “One Year On”, the collection marking the brand’s first anniversary, told through the faces that have represented the project since the beginnings. The collection explores new volumes built on the functionality of mountain apparel and a renewed aesthetic that blends outerwear and romanticism in a refined, contemporary language. With “One Year On”, CASCINELLI expands its universe beyond outerwear, the core of the brand, to include shirts and trousers. Presented in a refined palette of colours, the shirts are made from ultralight nylon and printed cotton, featuring a graphic reinterpreted from the brand’s signature floral embroidery. The trousers, with soft generous volumes, are made transformable through zips that allow the length to be adjusted.

Founded in Milan in 2024 by Filippo Cascinelli Staudacher, CASCINELLI is a brand specialising in outerwear with an essential and poetic aesthetic, combining Italian craftsmanship, technical innovation and personal storytelling.

The exhibition, conceived and produced by CASCINELLI within the spaces of Fondazione Sozzani, is divided into two moments: one dedicated to “In Motion” and one to “One Year On”. A suggestive journey of light and immersive atmospheres creates a true experiential path through the two worlds presented by the brand.

The project is promoted by Camera Nazionale della Moda Italiana.

The presentation of “In Motion” and “One Year On” will take place on Monday, January 19, 2026, from 4:00 pm to 7:00 pm, at Fondazione Sozzani, Via Bovisasca 87, Milan.

Admission is by invitation only.
